

At Newsmakers we deliver a comprehensive PR and Reputation Management service, tailored to meet the specific marketing requirements of your brand and organisation. Our experienced team of professionals are committed to maximising every opportunity you have to communicate your message and enhance your profile.

With a long and successful track record, working with clients in East Anglia, the East Midlands and London, we have the knowledge, media contacts and proactive approach to make a real contribution to your communications strategy.

Our goal is always to make your brand and help your people deliver a positive and professional representation of your values.

An essential part of attaining that goal is to ensure that your brand is seen, heard, talked and read about, in the most positive way, as often as possible. Employing PR techniques, at the most strategic level, and implementing them through targeted and effective tactics we deliver an all embracing approach.

From writing your press releases, online content or social media messages, to identifying the best promotional opportunities, to media training you and your team, we will work alongside you, meshing our team's activities with your key players' goals. We will strive to understand your brand, immersing ourselves in your market and sector. Our team will be part of your team.
